PREFACE

In presenting this volume, to commemorate Yates County's part in the World War, the author realizes more fully than anyone else its many imperfections. Having devoted the better part of a year to collecting the material in hand, we can only hope that our effort will, in a measure, fulfill the purpose for which it is intended.

Great care has been exercised in compiling the record of those who were engaged in this war. This list contains only those actually credited to Yates county. Many who might have claimed this as their home went into service from other places and are credited to the county from which they were inducted. In some respects this is unfortunate; but it seemed best to the author not to include their records in this work.

Our judgment in this matter may be criticized, but this volume is intended to be a historical record—a reference book for future use—and for this reason the lines have been more closely drawn than they otherwise would have been.

We feel that some special reference should be made to the Penn Yan Chapter of the American Red Cross. While the record of this noble band of workers, most of whom are women, as set forth in detail elsewhere in this book, speaks for itself, the fact that much of this record was made under the direction of officers other than those whose pictures appear in the group of Red Cross officers, seems to call for a word of explanation. In an undertaking of this kind there must necessarily be some limitations as to the number of illustrations used, and for that reason, only the officers first chosen by the Red Cross are included in this book. Those having direction of the work at later periods of the war are entitled to a large share of the credit for the achievements of the Red Cross. All performed a noble service, and their work did much to lighten the burden of the boys in camp and at the front. Many were the sacrifices made that the "boys" might be made more comfortable, and the work of the Red Cross will always be gratefully remembered.

It is not the purpose of the author to sit in judgment and try to decide "who is who" in the matter of Yates County's heroes and workers in the world war. The records and other information which we are publishing are from official sources. Whatever is lacking to make this work complete was beyond our reach. Having did our best, we dedicate our humble efforts to "the boys who went".

"The broken soldier, kindly bade to stay
Sat by his fire, and talked the night away;
Wept o'er his wounds, or, tales of sorrow done,
Shouldered his crutch, and showed how fields were won."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

APRIL 2, 1917

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON.

Gentlemen of the Congress:

I have called the Congress into extraordinary session because there are serious, very serious, choices of policy to be made, and made immediately, which it was neither right nor constitutionally permissible that I should assume the responsibility of making.

On the third of February last I officially laid before you the extraordinary announcement of the Imperial German Government that on and after the first day of February it was its purpose to put aside all restraints of law or of humanity and use its submarines to sink every vessel that sought to approach either the ports of Great Britain and Ireland or the western coasts of Europe or any of the ports controlled by the enemies of Germany within the Mediterranean. That had seemed to be the object of the German submarine warfare earlier in the war, but since April of last year the Imperial Government had somewhat restrained the commanders of its undersea craft in conformity with its promise then given to us that passenger boats should not be sunk and that due warning would be given to all other vessels which its submarines might seek to destroy, when no resistance was offered or escape attempted, and care taken that their crews were given at least a fair chance to save their lives in their open boats.

The precautions taken were meagre and haphazard enough, as was proved in distressing instance after instance in the progress of the cruel and unmanly business, but a certain degree of restraint was observed. The new policy has swept every restriction aside. Vessels of every kind, whatever their flag, their character, their cargo, their destination, their errand, have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning and without thought of help or mercy for those on board, the vessels of friendly neutrals along with those of belligerents. Even hospital ships and ships carrying relief to the sorely bereaved and stricken people of Belgium, though the latter were provided with safe conduct through the proscribed areas by the German Government itself and were distinguished by unmistakable marks of identity, have been sunk with the same reckless lack of compassion or of principle.

I was for a little while unable to believe that such things would in fact be done by any government that had hitherto subscribed to the humane practices of civilized nations. International law had its origin in the attempt to set up some law which would be respected and observed upon the seas, where no nation had right of dominion and where lay the free highways of the world. By painful stage after stage has that law been built up, with meagre enough results, indeed, after all was accomplished that could be accomplished, but always with a clear view, at least, of what the heart and conscience of mankind demanded. This minimum of right the German Government has swept aside under the plea of retaliation and necessity and because it had no weapons which it could use at sea except these which it is impossible to employ as it is employing them without throwing to the winds all scruples of humanity or of respect for the understandings that were supposed to underlie the intercourse of the world. I am not now thinking of the loss of property involved, immense and serious as that is, but only of the wanton and wholesale destruction of the lives of non-combatants, men, women and children, engaged in pursuits which have always even in the darkest periods of modern history, been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for; the lives of peaceful and innocent people cannot be. The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind.

It is a war against all nations. American ships have been sunk, American lives taken, in ways which it has stirred us very deeply to learn of, but the ships and people of other neutral and friendly nations have been sunk and overwhelmed in the waters in the same way. There has been no discrimination.

The challenge is to all mankind. Each nation must decide for itself how it will meet it. The choice we make for ourselves must be made with a moderation of counsel and a temperateness of judgment befitting our character and our motives as a nation. We must put excited feelings away. Our motive will not be revenge or the victorious assertion of the physical might of the nation, but only the vindication of right, of human right, of which we are only a single champion.

When I addressed the Congress on the twenty-sixth of February last I thought that it would suffice to assert our neutral rights with arms, our right to use the seas against unlawful interference, our right to keep our people safe against unlawful violence. But armed neutrality, it now appears, is impracticable. Because submarines are in effect outlaws when used as the German submarines have been used against merchant shipping, it is impossible to defend ships against their attacks as the law of nations has assumed that merchantmen would defend themselves against privateers or cruisers, visible craft giving chase upon the open sea. It is common prudence in such circumstances, grim necessity indeed, to endeavor to destroy them before they have shown their own intention. They must be dealt with upon sight, if dealt with at all. The German Government denies the right of neutrals to use arms at all within the areas of the sea which it has proscribed, even in the defense of rights which no modern publicist has ever before questioned their right to defend. The intimation is conveyed that the armed guards which we have placed on our merchant ships will be treated as beyond the pale of law and subject to be dealt with as pirates would be. Armed neutrality is ineffectual enough at best; in such circumstances and in the face of such pretensions it is worse than ineffectual; it is likely only to produce what it was meant to prevent; it is practically certain to draw us into the war without either the rights or the effectiveness of belligerents. There is one choice we cannot make, we are incapable of making; we will not choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored or violated. The wrongs against which we now array ourselves are no common wrongs; they cut to the very roots of human life.

With a profound sense of the solemn and even tragical character of the step I am taking and of the grave responsibilities which it involves, but in unhesitating obedience to what I deem my constitutional duty, I advise that the Congress declare the recent course of the Imperial German Government to be in fact nothing less than war against the government and people of the United States; that it formally accept the status of belligerent which has thus been thrust upon it; and that it take immediate steps not only to put the country in a more thorough state of defense, but also to exert all its power and employ all its resources to bring the Government of the German Empire to terms and end the war.

What this will involve is clear. It will involve the utmost practicable co-operation in counsel and action with the governments now at war with Germany, and, as incident to that, the extension to those governments of the most liberal financial credits, in order that our resources may so far as possible be added to theirs. It will involve the organization and mobilization of all the material resources of the country to supply the materials of war and serve the incidental needs of the nation in the most abundant and yet the most economical and efficient way possible. It will involve the immediate full equipment of the navy in all respects but particularly in supplying it with the best means of dealing with the enemy's submarines. It will involve the immediate addition to the armed forces of the United States already provided for by law in case of war at least five hundred thousand men, who should, in my opinion, be chosen upon the principle of universal liability to service, and also the authorization of subsequent additional increments of equal force so soon as they may be needed and can be handled in training. It will involve also, of course, the granting of adequate credits to the Government, sustained I hope, so far as they can equitably be sustained by the present generation, by well conceived taxation.

I say sustained so far as may be equitable by taxation because it seems to me that it would be most unwise to base the credits which will now be necessary entirely on money borrowed. It is our duty, I most respectfully urge, to protect our people so far as we may against the very serious hardships and evils which would be likely to arise out of the inflation which would be produced by vast loans.

In carrying out the measures by which these things are to be accomplished we should keep constantly in mind the wisdom of interfering as little as possible in our own preparation and in the equipment of our own military forces with the duty,—for it will be a very practical duty,—of supplying the nations already at war with Germany with the materials which they can obtain only from us or by our assistance. They are in the field and we should help them in every way to be effective there.

I shall take the liberty of suggesting, through the several executive departments of the Government, for the consideration of your committees, measures for the accomplishment of the several objects I have mentioned. I hope that it will be your pleasure to deal with them as having been framed after very careful thought by the branch of the Government upon which the responsibility of conducting the war and safeguarding the nation will most directly fall.

While we do these things, these deeply momentous things, let us be very clear, and make very clear to all the world what our motives and our objects are. My own thought has not been driven from its habitual and normal course by the unhappy events of the last two months, and I do not believe that the thought of the nation has been altered or clouded by them. I have exactly the same things in mind now that I had in mind when I addressed the Senate on the twenty-second of January last; the same that I had in mind when I addressed the Congress on the third of February, and on the twenty-sixth of February. Our object now, as then, is to vindicate the principles of peace and justice in the life of the world as against selfish and autocratic power and to set up amongst the really free and self-governed people of the world such a concert of purpose and of action as will henceforth ensure the observance of those principles. Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its peoples, and the menace to that peace and freedom lies in the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is controlled wholly by their will, not by the will of their people. We have seen the last of neutrality in such circumstances. We are at the beginning of an age in which it will be insisted that the same standards of conduct and of responsibility for wrong done shall be observed among nations and their governments that are observed among the individual citizens of civilized states.

We have no quarrel with the German people. We have no feeling towards them but one of sympathy and friendship. It was not upon their impulse that their government acted in entering this war. It was not with their previous knowledge or approval. It was a war determined upon as wars used to be determined upon in the old, unhappy days when people were nowhere consulted by their rulers and wars were provoked and waged in the interest of dynasties or of little groups of ambitious men who were accustomed to use their fellowmen as pawns and tools. Self-governed nations do not fill their neighbor states with spies or set the course of intrigue to bring about some critical posture of affairs which will give them an opportunity to strike and make conquest. Such designs can be successfully worked out only under cover and where no one has the right to ask questions. Cunningly contrived plans of deception or aggression, carried, it may be, from generation to generation, can be worked out and kept from the light only within the privacy of courts or behind the carefully guarded confidences of a narrow and privileged class. They are happily impossible where public opinion commands and insists upon full information concerning all the nation's affairs.

A steadfast concert for peace can never be maintained except by a partnership of democratic nations. No autocratic government could be trusted to keep faith within it or observe its covenants. It must be a league of honour, a partnership of opinion. Intrigue would eat its vitals away; the plottings of inner circles who could plan what they would and render account to no one would be a corruption seated at its very heart. Only free peoples can hold their purpose and their honour steady to a common end and prefer the interest of mankind to any narrow interests of their own.

Does not every American feel that assurance has been added to our hope for the future peace of the world by the wonderful and heartening things that have been happening within the last few weeks in Russia? Russia was known by those who knew it best to have been always in fact democratic at heart, in all the vital habits of her thought, in all the intimate relationships of her people that spoke their natural instinct, their habitual attitude towards life. The autocracy that crowned the summit of her political structure, long as it had stood and terrible as was the reality of its power, was not in fact Russian in origin, character or purpose; and now it has been shaken off and the great, generous Russian people have been added in all their naive majesty and might to the forces that are fighting for freedom in the world, for justice, and for peace. Here is a fit partner for a League of Honour.

One of the things that has served to convince us that the Prussian autocracy was not and could never be our friend is that from the very outset of the present war it has filled our unsuspecting communities and even our offices of government with spies and set criminal intrigues everywhere afoot against our national unity of counsel, our peace within and without, our industries and our commerce. Indeed it is now evident that its spies were here even before the war began; and it is unhappily not a matter of conjecture but a fact proved in our courts of justice that the intrigues which have more than once come perilously near to disturbing the peace and dislocating the industries of the country have been carried on at the instigation, with the support, and even under the personal direction of official agents of the Imperial Government accredited to the Government of the United States. Even in checking these things and trying to extirpate them we have sought to put the most generous interpretation possible upon them because we knew that their source lay, not in any hostile feeling or purpose of the German people towards us (who were, no doubt as ignorant of them as we ourselves were) but only in the selfish designs of a Government that did what it pleased and told its people nothing. But they have played their part in serving to convince us at last that that Government entertains no real friendship for us and means to act against our peace and security at its convenience. That it means to stir up enemies against us at our very doors the intercepted note to the German Minister at Mexico City is eloquent evidence.

We are accepting this challenge of hostile purpose because we know that in such a government, following such methods, we can never have a friend; and that in the presence of its organized power, always lying in wait to accomplish we know not what purpose, there can be no assured security for the democratic governments of the world. We are now about to accept gage of battle with this natural foe to liberty and shall, if necessary, spend the whole force of the nation to check and nullify its pretensions and its power. We are glad, now that we see the facts with no veil of false pretence about them, to fight thus for the ultimate peace of the world and for the liberation of its peoples, the German peoples included; for the rights of nations great and small and the privilege of men everywhere to choose their way of life and of obedience. The world must be made safe for democracy. Its peace must be planted upon the tested foundations of political liberty. We have no selfish ends to serve. We desire no conquest, no dominion. We seek no indemnities for ourselves, no material compensation for the sacrifices we shall freely make. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind. We shall be satisfied when those rights have been made as secure as the faith and the freedom of nations can make them.

Just because we fight without rancour and without selfish object, seeking nothing for ourselves but what we shall wish to share with all free peoples, we shall, I feel confident, conduct our operations as belligerents without passion and ourselves observe with proud punctilio the principles of right and of fair play we profess to be fighting for.

I have said nothing of the governments allied with the Imperial Government of Germany because they have not made war upon us or challenged us to defend our right and our honour. The Austro-Hungarian Government has, indeed, avowed its unqualified endorsement and acceptance of the reckless and lawless submarine warfare adopted now without disguise by the Imperial German Government, and it has therefore not been possible for this Government to receive Count Tarnowski, the Ambassador recently accredited to this Government by the Imperial and Royal Government of Austria-Hungary; but that Government has not actually engaged in warfare against citizens of the United States on the seas, and I take the liberty, for the present at least, of postponing a discussion of our relations with the authorities at Vienna. We enter this war only where we are clearly forced into it because there are no other means of defending our rights.

It will be all the easier for us to conduct ourselves as belligerents in a high spirit of right and fairness because we act without animus, not in enmity towards a people or with the desire to bring any injury or disadvantage upon them, but only in armed opposition to an irresponsible government which has thrown aside all considerations of humanity and of right and is running amuck. We are, let me say again, the sincere friends of the German people, and shall desire nothing so much as the early re-establishment of intimate relations of mutual advantage between us,—however hard it may be for them, for the time being, to believe that this is spoken from our hearts. We have borne with their present government through all these bitter months because of that friendship,—exercising a patience and forbearance which would otherwise have been impossible. We shall, happily, still have an opportunity to prove that friendship in our daily attitude and actions towards the millions of men and women of German birth and native sympathy who live amongst us and share our life, and we shall be proud to prove it towards all who are in fact loyal to their neighbors and to the Government in the hour of test. They are, most of them, as true and loyal Americans as if they had never known any other fealty or allegiance. They will be prompt to stand with us in rebuking and restraining the few who may be of a different mind and purpose. If there should be disloyalty, it will be dealt with with a firm hand of stern repression; but, if it lifts its head at all, it will lift it only here and there and without countenance except from a lawless and malignant few.

It is a distressing and oppressive duty. Gentlemen of the Congress, which I have performed in thus addressing you. There are, it may be, many months of fiery trial and sacrifice ahead of us. It is a fearful thing to lead this great peaceful people into war, into the most terrible and disastrous of all wars, civilization itself seeming to be in the balance. But the right is more precious than peace, and we shall fight for the things which we have always carried nearest our hearts—for democracy, for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own governments, for the rights and liberties of small nations, for a universal dominion of right by such a concert of free peoples as shall bring peace and safety to all nations and make the world itself at last free. To such a task we can dedicate our lives and our fortunes, everything that we are and everything that we have, with the pride of those who know that the day has come when America's privileged to spend her blood and her might for the principles that gave her birth and happiness and the peace which she has treasured. God helping her, she can do no other.

RESOLUTION

DECLARING WAR WITH GERMANY

Whereas, The Imperial German Government has committed repeated acts of war against the government and the people of the United States of America; therefore be it Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled, that the state of war between the United States and the Imperial German Government which has been thrust upon the United States, is hereby formally declared, and the President be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the government to carry on war against the Imperial German Government and to bring the conflict to a successful termination. All the resources of the country are hereby pledged by the Congress of the United States.

President Wilson attached his signature to the above resolution, April 6, 1917, thus declaring the United States in a state of war with Germany as from that date.

INTRODUCTORY

The first draft contingent from Yates county left Penn Yan for Camp Dix, New Jersey, on September 9, 1917. It was composed of five Penn Yan young men, all of whom volunteered to go at this time. In this contingent was Charles E. Costello, who was the first of our boys to die in service. His death occurred in the hospital at Brest, France, April 9, 1918, three days after landing there. His body was the first to be brought back to Yates county from overseas. It arrived in Penn Yan on May 7, 1920, and was given a military burial on May 9th.

The last contingent from this county left on October 22, 1918, for Camp Wheeler, Ga. Six men were in this contingent, and one of these, John B. McManus, of Penn Yan, died in camp on October 31, 1918.

Between the departure of the first and last contingent many more were sent to camp and other young men were leaving home to enlist in some branch of the service. The people of the county turned out in large numbers and escorted each contingent to the train that carried the boys away. Flags were flying, a band was playing, and the multitude was cheering as the trains pulled away from the station, but underneath this appearance of gayety, hearts were aching. The enlisted men slipped away quietly, and were in camp before many persons outside of their families and closest friends knew of their leaving.

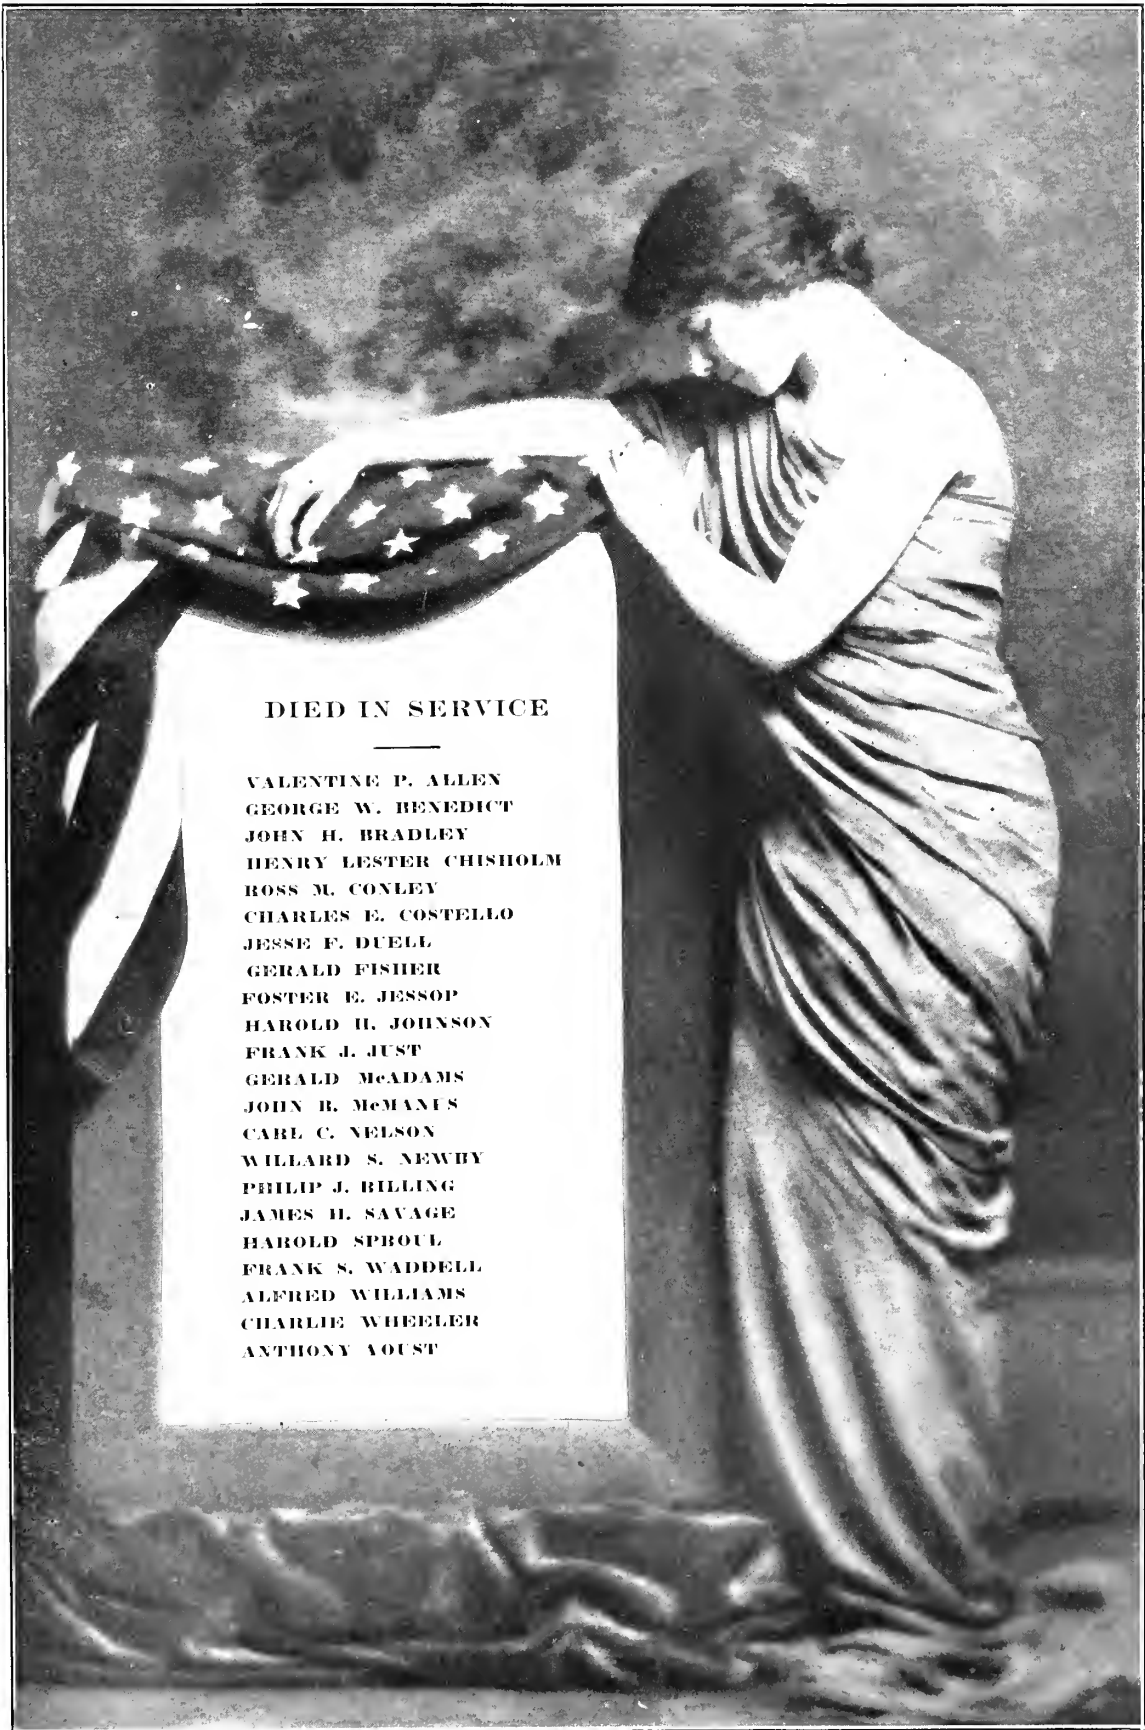

When the armistice was signed on November 11, 1918, the pent-up feelings of the people burst forth and the event was celebrated with an enthusiasm that evidenced great joy. But in the midst of this rejoicing, while bells were ringing and whistles were blowing, a telegram from the War Department, announcing the death in France of Charlie Wheeler, of Penn Yan, was received.

On July 4, 1919, a great "Welcome Home" was given those who had returned from service. A public presentation of medals to all of Yates County's participants in the war was held in the Court House Park, dinner was served at noon, in a large hall, a program of sports was carried out on the Fair Ground in the afternoon, the soldiers were given free tickets to the theatres, and the day was brought to a close with fireworks and dancing in the evening.

As a fitting memorial in honor of those from this county taking part in this war, it is proposed to erect a hospital at the county seat to be known as the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hospital of Yates County. The consummation of this plan has been delayed because of the abnormal conditions existing since the war. Pledges totaling $150,000 have been secured, a fine site has been purchased and a temporary hospital, fully equipped, has been opened pending the erection of the memorial. The new building will have a reception room in which bronze tablets, containing the names of all who were inducted into service from here, will be placed.

Yates County Service Medal.

THE DRAFT BOARD

The local, or Yates County Selective Service Draft Board was appointed in May, 1917, with Sheriff Milan H. Ayres as chairman, County Clerk, Edwin M. Potter, secretary, and Bernard S. Strait, examining physician. Dr. Strait resigned July 17, 1917, to enlist as 2d Lieutenant in the Medical Corps of the Army. Dr. Fred M. Maloney, of Dundee, was appointed as chairman of the physical examination board, with Drs. Frank S. Sampson and G. Howard Leader, as assistants. Robert H. Graham was made clerk of the Board soon after organization, and officiated in the capacity until September 25, 1918, when he resigned. Miss Lena Grady was acting clerk of the Board, and later Miss Emma Wilkins was appointed chief clerk. Sheriff Ayres resigned from the Board and John E. Watkins was appointed chairman on October 28, 1918.

Acting under orders of the Provost Marshal General's Department, the local Draft Agency distributed registration cards, to be filled out by the registrants, to the appointed enrolling clerks of the several election districts in the county. After the registration the cards were returned to the Board when they were given an order number consecutively as received. A serial number was also given the cards from a drawing of numbers at Washington D. C. The first number drawn corresponding to the registration number was the first to be called for service. This method was followed until all cards were given a serial number. All men were called for physical examination and service according to the serial number. There were 3,245 registrants in Yates county, as follows:

June 5, 1917, ages 21 to 30 years	1207
June 5, 1918, those who became of age since
June 5, 1917	108
August 24, 1918, those who had become of age
since June 5, 1918	18
September 12, 1918, ages 30 to 45 years	1919

Approximately 1800 men have been passed upon physically and otherwise by the local board. The District Board, representing the Counties of Chemung, Schuyler, Steuben and Yates (upon which board Yates county was not represented) reviewed the work of the Local Board. Many appeals were made to the District Board from the decisions of the Local Board, and some of the registrants made appeals to the Adjutant General's Department at Albany from the decisions of the District Board, and four Presidential appeals were made by registrants desiring exemption from service.

The Legal Advisory Board was appointed in May, 1917, and acted in a legal capacity with the Local Draft Board. The work of this board was mainly the investigation of cases of insurance, dependencies, whether his activities were indispensable—the Board acting in a legal way both for the registrant and the government. The Legal Advisory Board consisted of County Judge Gilbert H. Baker, chairman; Spencer F. Lincoln secretary and Hon. James M. Lown.

In his final report to the Secretary of War, Provost Marshal General E. H. Crowder said:

"The pride, the sorrow, the sacrifice and the patriotism of the Nation were contained within the records of the local boards. But it was more than a matter of sentiment that prompted a scrupulous preservation of those records. Never in the history of this or any other nation had a more valuable and comprehensive accumulation of data been assembled upon the physical, economic, industrial, and racial condition of a people. It would be of untold value to the physician, the economist, the sociologist and the historian for many decades. It was not only worthy of preservation, but this generation owed it to posterity that it be preserved. You will see that it was a vitally important task properly to assemble these records. The task was no less important than it was tremendous. Scattered throughout the breadth of the land, lying in the offices of the 4,648 local boards, 155 district boards, 1,319 medical advisory boards, and 52 State headquarters were the records of nearly 24,000,000 men."

The statistical report gives the following record for Yates county: Total called, 349; total inducted, 354; total accepted, 346; total rejected, 7. Total rejected, cancellation of draft, 1.

The Local Draft Board was relieved of its duties March 31, 1919.

The work of organizing Yates county was carried on. Branches were formed in each town in the county with auxiliaries as needed to carry on the work. Too much praise cannot be given to the women of the county for the wonderful work accomplished by them, the men aiding by giving freely of time and money so that each man going from his home town into the military service of the United States could be cared for while doing his part in the World War. Space cannot be given to the names of those who participated in this great work of the Yates County Chapter of the American Red Cross. The following financial statement will show the work accomplished from May 15, 1917, to November 30, 1918. There was received in cash from all sources between May 15, 1917, and November 30, 1918, the sum of $36,581.71, all of which was disbursed except $1797.88, which was on hand at that date. Received $6,549 from annual memberships for the years 1917-1918; $3,414.30 from a citizens' committee for the first war fund, and $243.14 from the Junior Red Cross in the various schools in the county. Most of the remainder came through the Yates County War Chest Association. The chief payments were $2560 to National Headquarters for First War Fund; $5250 to treasurer of the United States for Second War Fund; $3275 to Atlantic Division for Memberships, and $22,324.98 for Military Relief Supplies. Necessary expenses for the period amounted to $1027.55. There were no salaries paid.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

On December 27, 1917, in the early days of the United States Food Administration activities, seven Deputy Food Administrators were appointed, one of whom was Albert T. Beardslee, whose jurisdiction was Yates County. These seven were summoned to New York City and sworn in on January 7, 1918. Shortly thereafter additional Deputies were appointed so that one was assigned to each county in the State, all of whom were to act without salary.

Soon the Nation was experiencing the first pangs of a sugar shortage and the retail dealers were forced to obtain certificates in order to even purchase this necessary commodity. It then became apparent that some system of rationing must prevail, to insure that all might secure their proper share, and so the Food Administrator and Retail Dealers cooperated in evolving the first sugar cards in New York State. To make them effective, it became necessary to check them up each week and not having available funds to employ assistants, this work was done by the Food Administrator. Canning certificates also made their appearance about this time. By their use, sugar was provided in 25 pound lots for canning purposes and the filing and checking was accomplished the same way as with the sugar cards. By careful checking, the sugar cards proved so successful in their operation that they were afterward adopted in practically every county and continued in use until a more normal supply came into the market.

On account of the world shortage of wheat, the use of substitute cereals with wheat flour became necessary and such restrictions were at first received with some antagonism. However, the Food Administrator, having full confidence in the inherent patriotism of his people, immediately began an educational campaign which soon brought a full realization that such rules were a vital part in the successful prosecution of the war. This secured their loyal support and cooperation, and, except in a few isolated instances, obviated the necessity of invoking the drastic powers of enforcement at his command. At one time, 2000 pounds of wheat flour was donated by the people of the county to relieve the great distress in France and this amount was made up of many small contributions from those whose own supply was limited and with which they had been required to purchase other cereals, thus limiting themselves to a diet from which wheat was practically eliminated. With such instances of loyalty and patriotism it is not surprising that the Food Administrator received many letters from those in high authority, indicating that Yates county stood very high in the estimation of the United States Food Administration.

After the Armistice was signed, a relaxation of war time rules quickly became possible and conditions improved so rapidly that Mr. Beardslee was permitted to resign Feb. 1, 1919, receiving the commendation of his chief and a certificate from the Government "In token of efficient and patriotic service during the Great War, 1917-1918."

FUEL ADMINISTRATION

W. N Wise was appointed Coal Administrator for Yates County October 25, 1917, and continued to act in that capacity until honorably released February 28, 1919.

When he accepted the appointment, the conditions were very threatening, and there was every reason to fear that much suffering would be caused in the county by the shortage of the coal supply during the winter of 1917 and 1918. But during his administration there was not a single person, so far as is known, who was obliged to pass a night without sufficient coal to keep him warm until the next morning, even though in some cases suffering was prevented by delivering enough in coal hods to last until the next morning.

Soon after taking charge of the matter, the receipts of coal became so small that Mr. Wise was obliged to issue an order to all dealers prohibiting the delivery of more than a quarter ton of coal to any person at one time. A signed statement was required from every purchaser as to the quantity he still had on hand, and until his supply was exhausted no more coal could be delivered to him.

The cost to the dealer for his coal was accurately figured, and a fair and uniform price was fixed by the administrator which, notwithstanding the great shortage, never exceeded $9.00 per ton in the yard for stove size.

Circulars showing the alarming condition of the coal supply, were continually mailed to farmers—in which they were urged to provide an increased supply of firewood for the winter of 1917—and which resulted in a large increase in their production, and aided greatly in decreasing the demand for coal from the farming community.

The use of electricity for street lighting was reduced as much as was consistent with safety. The use of all electric lighted display signs was prohibited.

The system in regard to the distribution of the limited supply of coal available, the plan of requiring signed declarations from consumers as to the quantity of coal in their bins, the fixing of a maximum price which dealers were permitted to charge by the Yates County Administrator was highly commended by the New York State Fuel Administration, and was adopted by several other County Administrators.

No compensation whatever for services rendered.

Fuel Administrator

VETERAN CORPS. ARTILLERY

Alexander Ramsey Thompson
2nd Lieutenant.

The Veteran Corps of Artillery, an ancient militia organization composed of ten lineal descendants of men who served in the Revolution and 1812, at the outbreak of the World War volunteered for the anti-aircraft defense of New York City and was authorized to recruit generally, and was speedily increased to twelve batteries with headquarters and supply companies. While technically part of the state forces its work was done under the advice and approval of the generals in command at Governors Island. It was armed with Krag rifles and Lewis machine guns purchased with its own funds. With the approval of the government it sent a Board of Officers abroad to study the anti-aircraft defenses in London, Paris and at the front. Their report was used by the Regular Army in the Artillery Schools. It furnished a battalion to the state troops guarding the New York City water supply. In October, 1917, its officers were transferred to the New York Guard and it was relieved from anti-aircraft duty.

Alexander Ramsey Thompson, of Penn Yan, was an hereditary member of the corps and spent over a year on active military duty. Volunteering on April 6, 1917, he was assigned May 12th to the Headquarters Company and detailed to duty at Col. Delafields' headquarters. On July 12th he was promoted sergeant. On October 8th, 1917, he was transferred to the 9th Coast Artillery Corps, New York Guard, and detailed as sergeant to the Supply Co. On February 28, 1918, he was promoted 2nd Lieutenant and appointed Assistant Supply Officer. On March 11th he was appointed Regimental Historian. On March 29th, he was retired for age (64 years) but was on the same day detailed to active duty with the 9th. In the early summer he was taken ill and ordered home for medical treatment. On October 3rd he was relieved from active duty and returned to the retired list. All these services were rendered without pay, allowance or rations.

LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

Friday evening, May 18, 1917, a meeting was held in Penn Yan for the purpose of naming a committee to create interest in and help the sale of Liberty Loan Bonds, to be issued by the government of the United States. The following were chosen members of the committee:

William N. Wise, Chairman.
John H. Johnson
Hon. A. Flag Robson
Franklin S. Sampson
Hon. E. C. Gillett
John C. Fox
Hon. E. R. Bordwell
John H. Meehan
Frank M. McNiff
E. J. Walker, Jr.

A subsequent meeting was held in the Village Trustees' rooms in Maiden Lane, May 22, 1917, and the following action was taken:

"Moved and carried, that a committee of ten, of which the Chairman, W. N. Wise, should be chairman, the remaining members of the committee to be appointed by him, proceed to canvass the community for the sale of bonds, beginning with the business men of Penn Yan, and afterwards to proceed with the canvass of all other possible investors."

Later additional members were added to the committee. Yates county was placed in the Second Federal Reserve District, and the county was divided into three districts—Milo, Benton, Torrey, Jerusalem and Italy, being known as the Penn Yan district. The Dundee district comprised the towns of Barrington and Starkey, and the towns of Middlesex and Potter comprised the Rushville district. The Dundee organization was headed by Robert S. Wall, of Dundee, and the Rushville district by Lewis C. Williams, of Middlesex.

The following are the quotas and amounts subscribed in the Penn Yan district, also for the entire county. Under the amount subscribed for the second loan in the Penn Yan district ($404,900), the Federal Reserve Bank in New York City failed to give credit to the district for subscriptions made by railroad employees, who subscribed through their headquarters. While these do not appear in the Government's figures, they actually amount to $58,450, raising the total subscriptions to $462,950, showing all quotas met and exceeded in all loans:

QUOTAS AND AMOUNTS SUBSCRIBED IN PENN YAN.

	Quota	Amt. Sub.
First Loan	$182,900	$182,900
Second Loan	445,500	404,500
Third Loan	223,700	397,300
Fourth Loan	447,300	536,600
Fifth Loan	335,500	426,400

QUOTAS AND AMOUNTS SUBSCRIBED IN YATES COUNTY.

	Quota	Amt. Sub.
First Loan	$260,700	$261,150
Second Loan	531,700	634,200
Third Loan	320,300	542,500
Fourth Loan	660,600	766,450
Fifth Loan	448,700	595,650

To the credit of Yates county citizens, it should be said that the Committee found little difficulty in disposing of the first issue in the ten days allotted for the sale, and this largely without general or local publicity or any trained organization, and the quota assigned was quickly disposed of, largely within the immediate vicinity of Penn Yan.

In October, 1917, the Chairman of the first Committee in charge of the sale of bonds in the First Loan, was notified by the Federal Reserve Bank, to get his committee together and augment it with country members for the sale of the Second Liberty Loan.

At a preliminary meeting, W. N. Wise was selected as chairman to head the committee for the sale of this loan, and Edwin J. Walker, Jr., as publicity man.

The Second Loan was ushered in with clever posters and other attractive advertising, giving general publicity to the loan and facilitating the work of the solicitors.

The Third Loan was launched in March, 1918, under much the same conditions as prevailed in the earlier loans.

In the fall of the same year came the launching of the Fourth Liberty Loan. The Government had safely transported many of Yates county's boys overseas by this time, which acted as a great incentive to the patriots at home to see that subscriptions were forthcoming to see the thing through.

In the Second, Third and Fourth Loans, Walter B. Tower acted for the chairman in the capacity of campaign manager and did valiant work in organizing the committee.

Then came the Armistice. With it the committee felt that their labors were over and that the Treasury department would need no more funds, and that the committee might be disbanded.

Very soon, however, the Federal Reserve Bank sounded a warning to keep the selling organization intact as the Fifth or "Victory Loan" would soon be staged. It came; and with it a call for funds to "Bring the Boys Home." Needless to say, the county again responded nobly and the last loan was over-subscribed to a considerable extent.

It is interesting to observe that in the Fifth Loan no subscriptions were solicited, the unique plan having been devised to make it a "Subscription Loan", and the amount of subscriptions on the day the loan opened, equalled one-half the total, and the week before it closed, the quota was over-subscribed.

In the last loan, as in all former loans, the committee was guided by W. N. Wise as chairman; and in this loan, E. J. Walker, Jr., acted in the capacity of assistant chairman; and William C. McCuaig as Publicity man.

The committee, insofar as the late records disclose, included many prominent citizens of the county, whose tireless efforts made it possible to succeed against what appeared to be great handicaps, as in all the loans bad weather and bad roads were encountered, in some cases almost isolating the country districts adjacent to Penn Yan.

FOUR-MINUTE MEN

Shortly after the United States declared war with Germany, President Woodrow Wilson created a committee on Public Information, under the direction of George Creel. As a division of this department a section was designated as "Four-Minute Men," with a chairman in each county in every state, who was directed to enlist prominent speakers to deliver verbal messages in theatres, motion picture houses, churches and halls under his jurisdiction.

In Yates County speeches were regularly made each week during the term of the war. During the Liberty Loan drives and campaigns for Red Cross membership and War Chest, speeches were made nightly to sustain interest. The committee for Yates county included:

William C. McCuaig
W. Eugene DeMelt

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Our thanks are due to the men and women of Yates county who so kindly co-operated with us in furnishing their service records, published herein.

We are indebted to Robert H. Graham for the list of men in service prior to April 6, 1917, also many of the enlistments, and much other valuable assistance.

Mr. W. E. Burnell furnished photos for this publication, copying many photos received, some of which were varied as to size and color, which made reproduction difficult. However, very good results have been obtained.
